

Jewish Times
By Isiah and Isikiel

I. Hospital Relief and even Prophetic Buddhism

When of course the prophet Sirohi sleeps, and is busy in hospital creativity, he is feeling a lot better about his stress from military force, he is in fact feeling better with his and our doctor Alok Sarin who is in charge of his health and psychiatry.

II. Doctor's Determinism and Psychiatric Reports by Sirohi

He reports on himself a lot, the Prophet, and jokes that he will be in eternity in a hospital – where he argues one belongs. His psychiatric report is like this – case of a Jewish person, regular symptoms of elliptical type being fears of many kinds, but cured with Sirohi, who himself has problems with American military, which is cured according to Sarin, because he sees him improving over in fact a year of visits, maybe even two.

III. How to Keep Well

One just carries on, one lives in jazz temporality with a Talmudic morning – this then is his scripture on all suffering in even Buddhism – suffering is the problem of not visiting a doctor – keeping Sirohi in mind, he is aware of all conditions, so are his psychoanalysts and psychiatrists and doctors – Sirohi simply argues healthy life is when one is naturally living in utopian ways – that changes the valence of difficult lives known as all lives to its real shift in valence utopia.

The Hindu Newspaper (1988)
By Hari Sen and Mukul Mangalik

I. Introduction

We believe the Messianic tradition in Judaism, but also Islam and Christianity, is something like a hospital life lived in happiness – Sirohi will invent a hospital life – it is how Messianic traditions see hospitals as in fact hotels and even helps as a hotel visit – Sirohi is seen in Hebrew letters as a room, with a set of books, and computer life with a hospital lighting which is a casual life which heals people.